Car Owners Must Report Tire and Car Stamp Serials

Passenger car owners applying for basic mileage ration book A or D are requested to show the serial numbers of the five allow-able tires in their possession These five tires constitute the 4 able tires in their possession.

These five tires constitute the 4 on the wheels and one spare. Along with the tire serial numbers the applicant must-also furnish the serial number of his use car stamp which is purchased from any post-office.

Those in excess of the five allowable tires may be relieved of them by simply calling the Railway Express Agency who in turn will pick them up and send them into Detroit where they are appraised and from where playment will be made.

Grayling Defeats Charlevoix in Final

Last Saturday Grayling's footpall squad journeyed to Charlevoix and gained a hard fought, well played decision over the Pirates by the score of 18-14. The game was a ding-dong affair from start to finish. Charlevoix presented a determined eleven and they were able to score more points against the locals than any other team this

It was felt the victory Charlevoix assured Grayling of a clear claim to the conference title but at the fall conference meeting last Monday night it was voted by conference members to declare Grayling and Harbor Springs as co-champions

Grayling had a conference record of five victories without a tie or defeat, while Harbot Springs had four victories, one tie without a defeat. Actually Grayling played four conference games, but the fifth scheduled games, but the fifth schedules with Gaylord was canceled so this game was won by forfeit. This is a true story in fable. Once upon a time a city man, thinking about his country cou-sins, said to himself in smug selfsatisfaction:

"My poor country relations! They live on a farm many miles from town. Roads are bad. They get to stores with difficulty. They eat mostly meat and potatoes, have few luxuries, enjoy little entertainment, have scant money to spend, are usually in debt-well it's very sad. I am truly sorry for my country cousins."

That was before 1942, mister, Times have changed! -Don't pity the poor cousins to-

There's a good reason, too. Your country cousins by now, this eventful November of 1942,

Why, the peak during World War I was 14.6 billion dollars, back in 1919.

The 1942 farm income represents, according to the Bureau, a rise in prices of around 25 per ent over last year and a 12 per ent increase in sales.

But that isn't all, folks.

Government payments for soil conservation will be about the same this year as last. This will raise the total cash farm income to around 15.6 billion dollars compared with 11.8 billions in 1941 and the 1935-39 average of 8.5 billions.

What's the farmer doing with all this money?

A large portion of this 1942 cash is going into payment of debt, reducing mortgages, savings through war bonds along with purchases of semi-luxury lines which are still available. One of the most encouraging sizes the most encouraging signs, say the experts, is the absence of a speculative spirit which prompted farmers in the last war to go heavily in debt for purchase of land and equipment and then were caught in the vicious post-war price cycle.

Baths of Ancient Rome Won Well Merited Fame

The great appreciation which Romans had for public and private hygiene is characteristic of them. Plutarch had already remarked that prophylaxis was the foremost duty of the physician. The remains of the ancient aqueducts and baths are mute evidence of the vast, organized sanitary achievements in the capital of the ancient world. From nine directions the aqueducts converged on Rome and furnished about 80 gallons a head daily. However, the water was not piped into the poorer sections of the city. There the streets smelled of the contents of the vessels emptied out the windows, even from the top floors.

While the practice of swimming the Tiber thrice daily in order to inure one's self had existed during early Roman times, it was customary during the period of the empire | WANTED Standing to visit the public baths, writes correspondent to Ciba Symposia. Salads Valued as Food

Ever Since Biblical Days Since Biblical days salads have been known and valued for their health-giving qualities. There are records that show that the Egyp tians cultivated such salad foods as onions and garlic, and the Romans in ancient times enjoyed lettuce and chicory.

Today we are urged by food spe cialists to eat some fresh, raw vege-tables and fruits each day, as they are known to be excellent sources of vitamins and minerals. Salads offer such splendid opportunities for variety that they might be considered the most logical place to include the use of both vegetables and fruits in the daily food requirements. Salads may take so many different forms in a meal that variety is no problem; they can be used as an appetizer, the main dish or a dessert, or they may accompany the dinner course.

The taste buds extending only part way back on the tongue are extremely sensitive to only five major tastes: namely, sweet, sour, soap, bitter and salt. The really delicate sense of taste is in reality a sense of smell. In order to properly taste cream it is necessary to place a generous portion well back on the tongue, press it against the roof of the mouth to hasten warming, and hold it there at least ten seconds to permit the real flavor of the cream to evaporate and the sense of smell to function. Expelling the cream quickly from the mouth doe not permit time for warming and evaporation, and almost certainly prevents detection of oily flavors. Too many cream graders fail because they are not familiar with the fundamental mechanism of the

No Official Uniform

In the early history of our navy the sailors had no official uniform. Prior to 1852 a seaman could ornament his uniform as he fancied and some of them embroidered designs on their collars. So far as can be ascertained there is no significance to the two stars on the jumper, but they appear on all jumpers since 1820 and probably were adopted be-cause they were the most pleasing of the embroidered designs.

Another method of ornamentation was to sew white stripes on the collar. This also was practiced in the British navy and the first British naval uniform regulations standard-ized the white stripes on the sallor's jumper and decided they should be these days is about as pleasant as grabbin' a skunk by the tail and playin' ye-ye. And tent is so high. I had to berrew from the of them bour sharks who doem's require a co-signer. But it's mighty confusin'. Now after I repay his loan, how's he genns put my leg BACK on me? I rented one of them small houses. It's what you might call a phease booth with hot and cold runnin' relatives. In fact, I kinds wink my wife's brother is an auctioneer. He keeps sayin' he's gion', GOIN', GOIN', GOIN', but he ain't gone VETI But thank goodness they finally dropped the ceilin' on rent. And it my rent ain't paid on time, they drep the ceilin' on ME. My neighborhood is so tough, the Commandor refuse to walk through there unless they reholdin' omto their mamas' hands. Well, anyhow, let's remembe to buy more War Bonds because the only way to "V" is through "U." I'm goin' back to the wagen. There of Paducah.

THAD PHIBBS house got struck by lightnin's couple of nights ago. The kitchen chimney was knocked off and the roof set on fire and Thad found things pretty lively and excitin' for a spell.

The fire was soon out though, thanks to the prompt and efficient work of the local fire department, as the paper says...and I never seen a man so grateful as Thad.

Chief Ed Carey was sort of embarrassed, I guess, by the thanks that was bein' heaped on him.

"That's all right, Mr. Phibbs," he says. "That's all right, sir __that's what you pay taxes for."

From where I sit, I'd say Chief Ed's remark seems to have a lesson in it... a lesson on the way that taxes come back in mighty

The United States is much strongor in the present emergency because of the large use made of farm machinery, say experts of the department of agri

INDUSTRY AND BUSINESS AFTER THE WAR

Every American knows that the manufacture of automobiles has ceased for the duration of the war. The great automobile industry which in 1940 produced and sold more than 3½ million cars, has been re-tooled to produce airplanes, guns, tanks and munitions of war. Where will these companies get the money necessary to resume the manufac-ture of automobiles when the war is ended?

The automobile industry happens to be important, and there are thousands of smaller industries which will also face the same problem.

What will the millions of workers do when the demand for war ma-

What will happen to the domestic market for farm products when those millions of war workers no longer have jobs?

The stage seems set for an even worse depression after World War II than we suffered after World War I about these surpluses.

It is comforting to learn that Congress is now considering some plan to prevent, or at least to case, any after-the-war depression.

War Profits for Peace-Time Recovery.

plate the dedication of a portion of war profits for the purpose of provid-ing industry with the ready cash on hand to quickly change to peace-time activity and thus lessen the shock to manufacturing and agri-cultural surpluses when the war is

A Recovery_Bond_program been suggested whereby each in-dustry, big and little, will be re-quired to invest at least 20 per cent of its war profits in Recovery Bonds which do not bear interest until the war is ended and which cannot be is declared.

Such a plan would build, at the rate of almost a billion dollars a year, a huge recovery reserve to convert war industries to peace production, launch new products and maintain employment. It would place this reserve immediately and automatically in the hands of those businesses and industries with the greatest after-the-war needs.

The moment peace is declared the "time lock" automatically releases this recovery reserve, the bonds be-come negotiable and begin to draw interest. Purchasers holding them will then treat them like any other Government bonds, to be sold or used to borrow money. There would be no waiting for a post-war Con-gressional appropriation, no red tape, and no delay in launching the business and industry offensive that may turn threatened depression into

The plan is simple, practical and

During late years science and reearch have discovered many new and many new crops which can be used in industry, A plan of this character places in mediately in the hands of industry the resources which can be used to finance further research and to plan for the conversion of surplus crops, surplus factory buildings and the employ ment of war workers in new and useful ehterprises whenever this war shall cease and normal peacetime industry, business and agriculture shall be resumed. This problem deserves the thought ful consideration of every American If we can have the assurance of rea recovery period we can throw our selves into an all-out effort to win the war and feel that by so doing we have secured "the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our poster

TOOL USERS AND TOOL OWNERS

In a recent advertisement signed by a well-known business concern this statement appeared: "My boss has 14 Grand tied up in me."

What that slangy use of words meant was that the average em ployee in industry represents a capital investment—in property, plant machinery and equipment-of $14 000. In other words, labor has jobs only when some business man, or group of investors, puts up the money necessary for the creation of jobs.

It was well said recently, by student of economics, that men in governmental authority too ofte forget that while the rights of workers are being considered, the own of the tools used by workers must also have some consideration.

After this war is over, the plant now devoted to military needs must be re-converted to peace-time activity; must be re-tooled for the kind of production they were engaged in when it became necessary to tool up for war. Labor will expect peace-time jobs then, but somebody must provide the money for re-converting and re-tooling. That money cannot be forthcoming unless enough profits or capital can be stored up to meet such requirements.

The First Job Americans are impatient people says the Farm Journal. Impatience never won a war. Soundly planne action, backed by enough power wins victories. The job now is no to remake America, but to save it.
